4. Media Partnerships

Govt’s Media Engagement programme must be broadened beyond event-based communication.
- Govt communicators must liaise more with editors/publishers about long-term info campaigns that reshape public discourse & build a deeper appreciation about changes under way / required

- Engagements held with community media at provincial level to harness relations.
- Extensive engagements led by both Minister and Deputy Minister were held with community media houses in provinces to address challenges facing the sector; to agree on interventions to empower the sector.

4. Media Partnerships

Govt’s Media Engagement programme must be broadened beyond event-based communication.
- Govt communicators must liaise more with editors/publishers about long-term info campaigns that reshape public discourse & build a deeper appreciation about changes under way / required

- GCIS coordinated cluster media briefings to inform media, public & stakeholders of progress made in implementing Government’s PoA covering the term of the current administration.
  - 9 October 2014: Social Protection, Community and Human Development Cluster media briefing

- Over and above the actual briefings, GCIS sourced and implemented a range of communication opportunities to further amplify the achievements and good news stories following the Cluster media briefings.
6. Presidential/Ministerial Live Chat/City Hall/Google Hangout

This proposal entails engagement by govt via social media specifically, as opposed to other media platforms. Opportunity for the President to interact with citizens/stakeholders nationally and internationally who are tech-savvy and prefer digital communications.

- The department continues to post government messages on the social media space. The department has already hosted live chat on Twitter with the Deputy Minister. A Mxit showcase workshop was also held to showcase the government application on Mxit platform.
- The President conducts interviews after international trip.
- The President also conduct interviews after the SoNA.
8. Up scaling Vuk’uzenzele newspaper

Ramp up circulation, readership of government newspaper, funded through government ad-spend. Double circulation in first year from 1,7 million a month to 10 million copies a month.

- The project was recently costed and presented to MANCO. The CFO was tasked to arrange a meeting with NT for the presentation of the revised business case.
- The proposal is that 2015/16 financial year the newspaper will be published fortnightly with a total of 1 million copies per edition. It will increase in the outer years.
- The business case is based on the intention of using the advertising revenue to fund the additional copies of the newspaper – revenue generated by selling government advertising space in the newspaper.

Establish a Government Publishing Hub to promote content-sharing across various platforms and leverage the writing, design and graphic capacity dispersed across government. Create web portal to facilitate content exchange.

- The department has so far extended its products on digital.
- 2 Mobile Applications have been launched – one for Vuk’uzenzele and one for Government information linked to the website.

- The post-Cabinet briefings continue to give the public and stakeholders information on key decisions and discussions at Cabinet. The post-Cabinet statement is developed and supported by the Q&As as well as communication opportunities (interviews, community radio news, SA News Agency, Social Media, etc.) This includes verifying the paragraphs in the statement and confirming some of the issues raised by Ministers in Cabinet so that the statement is a true reflection of the discussions at Cabinet.
Media briefings to be staged after MinMEC meetings or meetings of provincial executives, in order to provide Cabinet-style feedback on deliberations and decisions

- Provinces continue to issue statements after Cabinet and some provinces have already adopted the style of post Cabinet briefings. e.g. KZN, E Cape
14. Post-Mayoral Committee Briefings

Municipalities to be advised to hold media briefings, to update public on recent and forthcoming developments in local areas

- Not all municipalities have begun with the approach but the majority have taken advantage of the community radio opportunities presented by GCIS provincial offices.
- However, the recommendation to have such regular briefings has been incorporated in the Communication Approach which GCIS assisted COGTA in developing for the Back to Basics initiative spearheaded by the Presidential Local GovT Summit held on the 18th Sept 2014 in which GCIS also played a key role in supporting.
